

Demon and Fairy Godmother

Demon: Demon Blackheart is my name, full of evil hate and shame
Now I'm here I do declaim, happiness won't long remain.

Fairy: Though you think you are clever, you must understand
That the powers of kindness are also on hand.

Demon: You dare to interrupt my plans, I'll have to make you understand,
Which is stronger in this land, your kindness or my evil hand.

Fairy: Oh begone with your threats and your boasting of fear,
Begins from this land, there's no place for you here.

Demon: No place for me? There's always a place for wickedness. But enough of this idle talk before this day is past you'll learn that no one is stronger than Demon Blackheart.

Fairy: Except me. His evil presence is indeed a threat to these good people. But as long as they are kind and generous I will give them my protection and see they come to no harm.
